RELY & DRIP

Hee Welling's designs are distinguished by the consideration paid to the purpose they serve. Inspired by bare-bone principles from the 1950s and '60s – function, construction, geometrics and logic – Welling joins these mid-century design philosophies with modern sensibilities. As a result, the Rely chair and Drip table, made from 100% recycled plastic, and post industrial aluminum respectively - are two visually clean pieces with lower environmental impact.

“Rely and Drip are the result of hundreds of hours of research focused on optimization and finding ways to reduce overcomplicated parts which go beyond reason. I want these pieces to be relevant for many years to come.” - Hee Welling

Hee Welling

Hee Welling (born 1974) is an award-winning furniture designer. In addition to being exhibited at fairs and museums worldwide, his products can be found in a diverse array of interiors, from The Oslo Opera House to Australia's parliament.

Raised in the Danish countryside, Welling's lifelong appreciation for the outdoors can be seen in the honest minimalism of his pieces. Each of his creations is united by a distinctive visual identity as he focuses on clean lines and simple silhouettes. Welling works with a wide array of materials, with wood and metals used alongside non-natural elements like plastic.

While decidedly modern, Welling's work sits within the broader context of the Scandinavian design tradition. As such, his pieces are underpinned by a belief in function as the cornerstone of furniture design. Looking to Old Masters like Arne Jacobsen and Hans J. Wegner, he seeks to continue their legacy with carefully crafted pieces that prioritize logic. No detail, Welling believes, should be superfluous. Instead, he works through an intuitive design process to ensure that each of his pieces is optimized to its highest purpose.

Rely, a contemporary chair whose sleek shell is crafted from plastic that is 100% post consumer recycled

Renowned for his signature minimalism, Welling's latest piece continues his legacy of melding simplicity with practicality. Rely's understated appearance belies the thorough consideration that has been given to its ergonomic design, with each of its curves developed to provide optimal back support.

Intended to suit both public and private spaces, the Rely collection boasts a wide range of options. Its shell is available in an impressive range of contemporary colours, while made-to-order upholstery for the seat and shell is available in a variety of fabrics. Its base comes as fixed or swivel.

Certifications

The Rely chair's shell is crafted from 100% recycled plastic, sourced from post consumer recycled white goods. The whole chair can in fact be disassembled, and the individual pieces are fully recyclable. From start to finish, the Rely chair promotes a circular economy.

Drip, a system of tables made from made from post industrial aluminium

Hee Welling's designs are distinguished by the consideration paid to the purpose they serve – and this thoughtfulness continues with Drip, a highly versatile and durable table system that has been designed specifically with the contract market in mind. Knowing that contract clientele requires their pieces to be flexible, Welling devised a table system that could adapt to different uses.

Arriving as a knock-down that can be easily assembled within a few minutes, once constructed, the table's aluminium structure allows for a long, slender profile that can be easily placed end-to-end with additional tables as needed. Such versatility extends to Drip's function: it works equally well as a meeting table in an office environment as it does in a restaurant interior, with cable management offered as an add-on solution.

DRIP TABLE

Nine new hues can be selected for the tabletop and glossy edge band, offering the choice between a monochrome look or a playful pairing of contrasting colours. In addition, five mix-and-match combinations are also now available.
